Introduction –

PANDIT SHREE GYASI LAL MISHRA EDUCATIONAL AND SOCIAL WELFARE SOCIETY

Pandit Shree Gyasi Lal Mishra Educational and Social Welfare Society, registered under number 06/12/03/11718/16 on 03 October 2016, is a committed non-profit institution dedicated to fostering education, social upliftment, and sustainable community growth. Headquartered at House No. 22, Mishra Clinic, Ward No. 12, Bus Stand, Nowgong, the society continues to serve as a beacon of hope for marginalized and underserved communities.

In 2024, the organization has expanded its initiatives to address emerging social challenges, blending traditional welfare activities with innovative, technology-driven solutions. Alongside its ongoing efforts in skill development, literacy enhancement, and health awareness, the society has introduced digital learning platforms for rural students, mobile health units for remote areas, and entrepreneurship training for rural youth and women.

Special focus is placed on empowering women through modern vocational courses, promoting environmental sustainability, and creating pathways for financial independence. Programs such as renewable energy awareness drives, mental health workshops, and digital literacy campaigns have been added to its core activities, reflecting its adaptability to the evolving needs of society.

Rooted in the ideals of Pandit Shree Gyasi Lal Mishra—service, integrity, and inclusivity—the society envisions a future where education and opportunity reach every doorstep. With a proactive approach and community participation, it strives to build an informed, empowered, and self-reliant India, ensuring that progress leaves no one behind.

Folk Art and Cultural Festival

In the academic year 2024–25, Pandit Shree Gyasi Lal Mishra Educational and Social Welfare Society hosted a vibrant Folk Art and Cultural Festival at the college campus, celebrating the richness of India's heritage. The event aimed not only to familiarize students with the depth of Indian traditions but also to nurture their artistic confidence and cultural appreciation.

The program featured an impressive blend of performances—energetic folk dances, soulful folk songs, traditional music on classical instruments, and engaging street plays portraying social and cultural themes. Students also showcased self-composed poems and skits inspired by rural life and local customs.

A highlight of the event was the participation of renowned local folk artists, who mesmerized the audience with authentic renditions of regional art forms. The colorful display of traditional costumes representing different states created a visual journey across India's cultural map.

Beyond entertainment, the festival encouraged teamwork, cultural exchange, and creative thinking among students. It served as a bridge connecting the younger generation with their cultural roots while fostering respect for diversity. The society firmly believes that such initiatives strengthen cultural unity and contribute to the holistic growth of youth.

Cleanliness & Safe Drinking Water Awareness Drive

During the 2024 academic session, Pandit Shree Gyasi Lal Mishra Educational and Social Welfare Society conducted an impactful awareness drive on cleanliness and safe drinking water within the college campus. The campaign focused on building practical habits among students to ensure a cleaner environment and better health standards.

Participants learned about the importance of proper waste disposal, regular cleaning of surroundings, and adopting personal hygiene practices such as handwashing and maintaining clean living spaces. Special emphasis was placed on safe drinking water—highlighting methods like filtration, boiling, and protecting water sources from contamination. Preventive measures against waterborne diseases were also discussed in detail.

The program adopted an interactive approach with poster exhibitions, catchy slogans, role plays, and open group discussions, encouraging students to become ambassadors of cleanliness and hygiene in their communities. Many students pledged to monitor cleanliness in their neighborhoods and promote safe water practices at home.

Through this initiative, the Society reinforced the idea that a clean environment and safe drinking water are not just individual responsibilities but collective duties, essential for building a healthy and sustainable community.

Health Awareness & Wellness Programs

In the academic year 2023–24, Pandit Shree Gyasi Lal Mishra Educational and Social Welfare Society implemented a series of health and wellness initiatives aimed at empowering college students with essential knowledge for a healthy life. The programs focused on preventive healthcare, mental well-being, and overall physical fitness.

A free medical camp was organized on campus, offering general health check-ups, hemoglobin testing, and eye screenings. Experienced medical professionals delivered insightful talks on the role of a balanced diet, the benefits of regular exercise, the dangers of substance abuse, and the importance of personal hygiene.

A dedicated session on women's health and nutrition addressed issues of anemia prevention, menstrual hygiene, and balanced dietary practices. Interactive discussions allowed students to clarify doubts and share their health concerns openly.

These activities not only enhanced health awareness but also motivated students to incorporate healthy habits into their daily routines. The Society reaffirmed its commitment to making such wellness programs a recurring feature to ensure that students remain physically fit, mentally strong, and socially responsible.

Environmental Development Initiative

In the year 2024–25, Pandit Shree Gyasi Lal Mishra Educational and Social Welfare Society undertook a major initiative to promote environmental protection and sustainability on the college campus. With active participation from teachers and students, over 150 saplings—including neem, peepal, mango, gulmohar, ashoka, and other native trees—were planted. Each sapling was safeguarded with tree guards and provided with regular care to ensure healthy growth.

Alongside the plantation, a cleanliness campaign was conducted to reduce plastic dependency and encourage waste segregation. Special awareness sessions highlighted the need for biodiversity conservation, water preservation, and the adoption of eco-friendly habits in daily life. To strengthen sustainable practices, a rainwater harvesting system was established on campus.

This collective effort transformed the campus into a greener, cleaner space while inspiring students to take personal responsibility for environmental care, aligning with the Society's commitment to building an eco-conscious future.

Tree Plantation & Green Campus Drive

Pandit Shree Gyasi Lal Mishra Educational and Social Welfare Society organized a dedicated Tree Plantation and Green Campus Drive in the college premises with the aim of promoting environmental sustainability and fostering a healthier, greener learning space. The programme saw active participation from the Society's office bearers, teachers, and students, who together planted a variety of fruit-bearing, medicinal, and shade-giving trees.

The event also featured interactive discussions on ecological balance, the importance of fresh air, and the role of trees in reducing pollution and supporting biodiversity. Speakers highlighted how greenery not only enhances campus beauty but also contributes to physical well-being and environmental health.

Students pledged to nurture the saplings, ensure regular watering, and safeguard them until maturity. The initiative inspired eco-friendly practices among students, and the enhanced greenery has made the campus more vibrant and refreshing. The Society reaffirmed its commitment to expanding such green efforts for a sustainable future.

Drug-Free Youth Awareness Drive

Pandit Shree Gyasi Lal Mishra Educational and Social Welfare Society conducted a Drug De-addiction and Healthy Living Awareness Drive on the college campus with the aim of educating students about the dangers of substance abuse and motivating them to lead a healthy, disciplined life.

Specialists from the health and social sectors explained in detail the severe physical, psychological, and social consequences of drug addiction. The campaign used engaging methods such as posters, impactful slogans, and informative video screenings to connect with the students.

During the event, students pledged to stay away from drugs and to encourage friends, peers, and community members to do the same. The program successfully fostered awareness, built a sense of responsibility, and strengthened the resolve of young people to choose a drug-free future.

"Empowerment through Vocational Training and Digital Education Program"

During the reporting year, the Society actively worked towards empowering youth, women, and underprivileged communities through skill development and digital literacy initiatives. The Sashaktikaran Vyavsayik Prashikshan program provided hands-on vocational training in trades such as tailoring, handicrafts, computer basics, and entrepreneurship. This initiative aimed to enhance employability and promote self-reliance.

In parallel, the Digital Shiksha Karykram bridged the digital divide by offering training in computer operations, internet usage, online services, and e-governance tools. Special emphasis was placed on rural youth and women, enabling them to access new opportunities in education, business, and government schemes.

Through workshops, practical sessions, and awareness drives, the Society not only imparted technical skills but also encouraged confidence, creativity, and self-sufficiency among participants. The program significantly contributed to creating a skilled, digitally literate community ready to meet modern economic challenges.

ENTREPRENEURSHIP TRAINING PROGRAM

Pandit Shree Gyasi Lal Mishra Educational and Social Welfare Society organized an entrepreneurship training program at the college level. The main objective of this program was to make students aware of self-employment and to provide them with the necessary skills to start their own businesses. The training covered topics such as local business opportunities, small-scale industry establishment, marketing techniques, financial management, use of digital platforms, and information about government schemes. Expert trainers introduced students to various aspects of entrepreneurship through motivational examples and workshops. Additionally, the experiences of successful entrepreneurs were shared to encourage youth to become self-reliant. Students actively participated in activities such as project development, presentations, and teamwork. This initiative helped students develop confidence, creativity, and a sense of job creation, enabling them to not only seek employment in the future but also provide jobs to others.
